Lonely deaths are becoming a serious problem in many countries. This happens when lonely old people die without anyone around them. Because of this, no one may find them for days or even weeks. Many of these people don’ t often talk to family, friends, or neighbors. So, when they pass away, no one notices it right away. This shows that loneliness is not only a sad feeling but also a real trouble to people’ s lives.

In Korea, lonely deaths are called godoksa. The number of lonely deaths there is going up every year. There were 3,661 deaths last year, 3,559 in 2022, and 3,378 in 2021. This shows more people are living alone and not getting enough help. About 84% of them were men, and most were in their 50s or 60s. Some people studied this problem and said that older men often found it hard to make new friends after they stopped working. They might feel not needed or shy to talk to others. This made them more lonely.

The word kodokushi means “lonely death” in Japanese. This year, about 40,000 people died alone at home, and around 4,000 of them were found more than a month later. This truth is sad because it shows how easily people can be forgotten in busy lives. Some young people, even teens or people in their thirties, also died alone between 2018 and 2020. The busy life and the heavy worries from work or study may be the main causes.

Lonely deaths remind us that staying connected with others is very important. We should all try to care more about the people around us so that no one has to face life alone.
