Of all the festivals, I like the Mid-Autumn Festival the most 32 I can do so many interesting things with my family. On that special night, we all get together to watch the bright full moon and enjoy some yummy homemade desserts. Every year, my mom makes mooncakes all on her own. They might not 33 as the ones from the bakery, but they taste the best! This year, I decided to 34 with the mooncakes.

I did a lot of work to prepare. First, I searched for recipes and then went shopping for all the ingredients. Following the recipe carefully, I made some mooncakes 35, and they turned out great! I didn't know making mooncakes could be so difficult before, but now I want to help my mom make them every year.

I had so much fun 36 mooncakes with my mom, and I can't wait to do it again next year!

Koalas, like three-toed sloths, have claws for climbing the trees in the forests. They move about 190 meters every day. The word “koala” means “no drink” or “no water.” Koalas seldom drink water because they get most of the water by eating tree leaves. They spend about 10% of their day eating and around 90% of their time sleeping in the trees.

Both koalas and three-toed sloths are folivores. However, leaves don't have much nutrition, so they get very little energy from just eating leaves. That is to say, they don't have much energy to move fast. They discover a way to spend little energy by resting and sleeping a lot, and not moving very often.

43. What does folivores mean in this reading?

- (A) Animals feed on leaves.
- (B) Animals eat either meat or plants.
- (C) Animals climb up and down the trees.
- (D) Animals swing from one tree to another.

正解(A)，有28.03%學生誤選(C)

🔔教學策略：推論可以從上下文(前一句/後一句)
